Southern Tier Regional EMS Council

1. What is the Southern Tier Regional EMS Council?

The Southern Tier Regional EMS Council is a formally established New York State Article 30 advisory body dedicated to ensuring that high quality prehospital emergency health care is available to the residents of, and visitors to, the Southern Tier of New York State (Chemung, Schuyler and Steuben Counties). The Council was formed in 1975, and is statutorily responsible for planning, implementing and monitoring regional EMS system development. Membership is defined by Article 30, Section 3003, of the New York State Public Health Law and by the Council's Bylaws.

The Council normally meets eight times a year, and has up to 30 volunteer members, representing ambulance, fire, hospitals, county government, health and emergency management, in proportion to meet the requirements of Article 30 and the Council's Bylaws. The Council coordinates a systems approach for providing prehospital emergency medical services. It sets policy, has the responsibility for effective and efficient management of the integration of all EMS system components. The Council's work is carried out with the assistance of various committees.

2. What is EMSTAR?

EMSTAR was formed in 1986, originally as STREMS, Inc., to provide financial and other support services to the Council and support services to the EMS provider agencies in the Southern Tier. EMSTAR assumes the role of Program Agency in the region, as described in Article 30, Section 3003-a.

3. How can I join the Council?

Council membership is open (when there are vacancies) to interested individuals. Preference may be given to those who have skills or expertise that would benefit the Emergency Medical Services system and to those who have shown an interest in the Council through attendance at the Council, its committee meetings, and/or participation in Council activities. The Council does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, religion, age, disability or sexual orientation in its membership or program activities. Interested persons may submit a completed application for membership. If representing an EMS organization, a letter from that organization is requested. [Note: by New York State law, at least 1/3 of the Council's members must be representatives of ambulance services; members must live in the region.]

4. What is expected of a member?

To remain a member, you are expected to:

- Sign a “statement of agreement”
- Name one or two alternates
- Attend and actively participate in Council and assigned committee meetings
- Participate in Council activities and programs
- Use your particular skills and abilities to enhance the Council’s Goals and Objectives, and for the advancement of EMS in the Southern Tier

Neglect of one’s obligations to the Council may be grounds for dismissal according to Council Policy.

5. What happens when my term ends?

A term on the Council may be for up to four years. At the end of the term, a member may be eligible for re-nomination. This may be contingent on the member’s adherence to the items listed above, and the requirements of Article 30 and the Council Bylaws and Policies.
